

Visteon Corporation

Policy for a Responsible Global Supply Chain of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas

In line with the rules of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission implementing section 1502 of the Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, and other emerging legislation around the world, Visteon Corporation and its consolidated entities declare the following policy regarding mineral sourcing from conflict-affected and high-risk areas.

It is Visteon's intention to promote socially responsible sourcing and make reasonable efforts to ensure that the conflict minerals contained in its products do not support armed conflict or inhumane treatment in the Covered Countries which include the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) and the countries that share an internationally recognized border with the DRC which include Angola, Burundi, Central African Republic, the Republic of the Congo, Rwanda, South Sudan, Tanzania, Uganda, Zambia, in addition to other conflicted regions. Visteon supports the Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI), and encourages its supply chain to support and participate in the RMI's Responsible Minerals Assurance Process. Conflict minerals are defined as tin, tantalum, tungsten, and gold, in addition to other minerals of concern, regardless of where the minerals originate.

Visteon requires the following efforts from its supply chain:

- Reporting chain of custody information through the Responsible Minerals Initiative's Conflict Minerals Reporting Template using the latest reporting mechanism requested by Visteon
- Implementation of the OECD Due Diligence Guidance or a similar recognized framework
- Cascade and reasonable enforcement of the Responsible Minerals Assurance Process through the upstream supply chain
- Elimination of procurement, as soon as commercially practical, of products containing Conflict Minerals obtained from sources that fund or support inhumane treatment in the Covered Countries
- Submission to audits as deemed necessary by Visteon

Additionally, Visteon will continue to comply with all applicable local laws in the various countries in which it does business.
